

Use Artificial Intelligence to check shipping documents faster and ensure compliance with buyer requirements

For bulk or containers

Reviewing shipping documents is a slow, error-prone, and manual process. Teams spend hours on checks and the high risk of oversight due to fatigue or time pressure can lead to delays in document presentation or penalties that impact working capital cost. QuickDocs uses AI to organise, split, extract, and check shipping documents against Documentary Instructions and Letters of Credit, helping teams identify discrepancies faster and reduce manual review effort.

Designed for businesses managing document checks across both high-volume container trade and complex bulk shipments

QuickDocs applies the same AI document intelligence across both trade types, adapting to the documents, processes and challenges behind each. Choose the product version that matches your business or run both side by side.

Bulk trade

For businesses that manage fewer but more complex, high-value transactions.

CAPABILITIES

- Capture requirements from Documentary Instructions & multiple LCs for a high number of splits
- Document validation against requirements
- Check document compliance against Documentary Instructions & Letters of Credit
- Automatically create document sets by consignee, notify or BL number

Container trade

For businesses that process thousands of repetitive document checks every year.

CAPABILITIES

- Use AI to capture requirements from Documentary Instructions & Letters of Credit
- Data consistency check across packing lists and other documents
- Compliance checks against Letters of Credit and buyer instructions
- High-volume document processing for repetitive container shipment checks

Adoption is accelerating

More trading firms join QuickDocs every month across both container and bulk flows.
